The city of Bern, Switzerland, serves as a focal point for religion and academia. Discover the Abbey of St Gall, an Irish monk, built a hermitage, which blossomed into a monastic community, and is surrounded by Switzerland, Germany and Austria. Discover the lake's role in the economic development of central Europe. See the Thirty Years War, 1618–1648, brought central Europe more than the ravages of political and religious conflict. It also marks the beginning of an important period in European history when science and philosophy began to challenge traditional beliefs. The Thirty Years War, which lasted until 1648, was fought between the Catholic powers of the Holy Roman Empire and the Protestant states of the Swiss Confederation. The war had a profound impact on the central European states, leading to the establishment of the modern nation-state system. It also led to the development of a new style of warfare, known as the Thirty Years War style, which was characterized by the use of artillery and the development of new tactics. The war also had a significant impact on the development of European diplomacy, as the countries involved in the war sought to use the war to gain influence and control over the territories of other countries. The Thirty Years War was one of the most destructive and costly wars in European history, with an estimated 8 million people killed or displaced. The war also had a significant impact on the development of European art and culture, as artists and intellectuals sought to express their views on the war through their work. The Thirty Years War is often seen as a turning point in European history, marking the end of the Middle Ages and the beginning of the modern era. Today, the legacy of the Thirty Years War can still be seen in the architectural and cultural heritage of the central European states, as well as in the ongoing debates about the role of religion and politics in shaping the modern world.

The story of Oberammergau, a picturesque mountain town in the heart of Bavaria, Germany, is a testament to human perseverance and artistic legacy. The town’s most celebrated achievement is the Oberammergau Passion Play, a dramatic reenactment of Christ’s final days on earth that has taken place every ten years since 1633. The play, staged on an outdoor stage in an 18th-century village, remains an awe-inspiring spectacle, and it is a highlight of a comprehensive tour experience that includes a visit to Munich, Germany. Our journey begins with an exploration of Munich’s rich history and cultural treasures, followed by a visit to the picturesque town of Oberammergau, where we witness the incredible Passion Play. The tour also features a visit to Lake Constance, with its Romanesque Abbey of St Gall, and a stop in Innsbruck, Austria, to enjoy the Wagner Festival and a performance of Verdi's opera "A Masked Ball." We end our journey in Salzburg, home of Mozart and the birthplace of the iconic "The Sound of Music." Throughout our adventure, we will be accompanied by an experienced Travel Director and local experts who will guide us through this cultural journey.

Let your adventure start now with AHI Travel.

AHI Travel Connects:
• AHI Travel’s team of experienced travel directors and trip leaders will become your personal concierge, solving any travel problem you may have.
• Travelers are also paired with a designated trip director for additional support and guidance.
• The 2020 Oberammergau Passion Play – AHI Travel is pleased to announce that you will have the opportunity to attend the historic Passion Play, Oberammergau, Germany. This unique and traditional event is a 300-year-old religious event that is only performed once every ten years. The Passion Play, first done in 1634, is unique to Oberammergau and its history, without any contemporary music or scenery. The pageantry is focused on the life and death of Jesus, utilizing local farm animals, including oxen, horses, and cows, as well as period clothing, shoes, and accessories to create the original costumes. The Passion is now considered a remarkable work of art, attracting visitors from around the world. The original 300-year-old Passion Play is performed every ten years in this picturesque mountain village.
• Join the group for a special pre-trip dinner and enjoy a traditional Bavarian dinner of bratwurst, sauerkraut, and dumplings, followed by a traditional song and dance performance, showcasing the rich culture of Bavaria.

Let us take your adventure to the next level.
