We value the health and safety of our Washington University travelers and are coordinating with our travel partners to plan our 2021 trip schedule accordingly. We remain hopeful that all 2021 trips will depart as planned, and our travel partners are currently accepting reservations.

Please note that each company maintains its own policies and makes determinations regarding whether trips will depart as scheduled. We suggest contacting individual vendors for specific questions related to destinations and departures. Before booking, we recommend carefully reviewing the travel vendor's policies regarding trips affected by COVID-19, as well as their policies should you opt to cancel your participation in a trip. In most cases travel vendors will postpone, not cancel, your trip and will offer refunds in the form of travel vouchers only for any trip canceled or postponed due to COVID-19.
