Washington University Alumni and Friends:
Be part of a wonderful group—on a remarkable journey!

Join Washington University alumni and friends and special guest Raymond E. Arvidson, James S. McDonnell Distinguished University Professor, on a trip of a lifetime:

Professor Ray Arvidson has been instrumental in the development and implementation of both orbital and landed missions to the planets. He is the Deputy Principal Investigator for the highly successful Mars Rover Missions (Spirit and Opportunity), Co-Investigator for the hyperspectral mappers OMPIGA (European Mars Express orbiter) and CRISM (on the Mars Reconnaissance Orbiter), and a Participating Scientist on the Mars Science Laboratory (Curiosity Rover) Mission. He is the Director of the NASA Planetary Data System Geosciences Node, making available ~300 terabytes of NASA data to the world-wide research community. He is a Fellow of the Geological Society of America and the American Geophysical Union (AGU), received the AGU Whipple Award, has been honored as the Missouri Teacher of the Year, and is a recipient of three NASA Public Service Medals and approximately one dozen NASA citations for excellence. He is also the director of the highly successful Pathfinder Program in Environmental Sustainability that focuses on small group case studies of highly motivated Washington University undergraduates. During the trip, Professor Arvidson will discuss the marine geology of the South Pacific Islands, including the volcanic activity that formed them, their evolution to atolls, and likely effects of rising sea levels.

We invite you to join us for this splendid opportunity featuring included Air from Los Angeles*. The evolution of ancient volcanic activity beneath the sea, sculpted by waves and winds over millennia, created the idyllic islands of Tahiti, Huahine, Taha’a, Bora Bora and Moorea. Experience the earthly paradise and spectacular shores that have beckoned travelers for centuries during this nine-night land/sea sojourn. During your stay on Tahiti, explore the west coast of the island during an excursion to the Robert Wan Pearl Museum to learn about the Tahitian cultured pearl and admire the museum’s unique private collection. An onboard naturalist will provide a variety of talks and demonstrations about the islands’ history and cultural heritage throughout the cruise. You can observe—and even snorkel and swim with—extraordinary bird and marine life, and breathe in the fresh fragrances of vanilla, gardenia and jasmine that permeate the island air where you’ll find camaraderie and a contagious spirit of adventure. In selecting this itinerary our Alumni Travel Committee also knew how much our group members would appreciate the luxury of the inviting, yacht-like M.S. PAUL GAUGUIN that includes a whole host of complimentary features aboard ship.

Don’t Wait: Space is limited, and our $2000 (per couple) early booking savings offer is only valid until July 23, 2013!

Don’t miss the opportunity to travel with fellow alumni and share this remarkable experience.

Sincerely,

Susan Cohen
Executive Director of Alumni Relations
Washington University in St. Louis

PS. The Washington University in St. Louis Alumni Association strongly recommends that you purchase travel insurance for every trip on which you plan to embark. Unforeseen circumstances may cause you to cancel your trip at the last minute, and travel insurance will help to ensure that your fees are refunded. Washington University does not offer its own travel insurance, but Goehagan & Company offers a policy you may purchase.

This small ship allows access not available to vessels with larger footprints, creating exclusive opportunities to explore. Snorkel over rainbow-colored coral reefs and come nose to nose with parrotfish, clownfish, giant clams and sea turtles. The optional SCUBA diving excursions* for all levels of experience offer opportunities to dive deeper and swim alongside colorful sea creatures including sea anemones, eagle rays and octopi.

Society Islands

Tahiti, “Queen of the Pacific,” and sister islands—Huahine, Taha’a, Bora Bora and Moorea—have appealed to visitors ever since Captain James Cook landed in 1769. This tropical paradise has captivated explorers and mariners, artists and writers alike—Captain Cook returned twice more, H.M.S. Bounty’s Fletcher Christian chose to remain and master Impressionist Paul Gauguin abandoned his family and career in France to embrace the seductive lifestyle of Polynesia. Visit Tahiti and experience the allure of the Society Islands for yourself.

Papeete, Tahiti

Bustling, cosmopolitan Papeete, the capital of French Polynesia and the gateway to the treasures of the South Pacific, has extended a hospitable welcome to visitors since its founding as a missionary settlement in 1824. Located on a natural harbor cooled by trade winds, Papeete enjoys one of the finest natural settings in the South Pacific, set against a backdrop of verdant, forest-clad peaks. Its tropical ambiance is complemented by the charm and diversity of its inhabitants, a vibrant blend of native Tahitian, French and Chinese. During the exclusive included excursion along Tahiti’s west coast, visit the Robert Wan Pearl Museum, the only museum in the world dedicated to pearls, to see Tahiti’s finest cultured gems, and tour the Museum of Tahiti and Her Islands, which showcases significant archaeological finds, the island’s geology and its flora and fauna.

Huahine

Soaring peaks, lush rain forests, dazzling white beaches and ancient shrines distinguish this untouched paradise formed of two islands—Huahine-Nui and Huahine-Iti—separated by a deep blue bay and ringed by a coral atoll. The idyllic port of Fare lies nestled between the sea and a woodland of towering mape (chestnut) trees draped with sweet-scented vanilla vines. In the nearby settlement of Maeva, the ancient religious center of Huahine-Nui, stand 10 marae (temples), built in the 16th century of locally quarried stone and dedicated to Tane, Oro and other Polynesian deities.

Explore the mysterious underwater world of Bora Bora’s reefs and look for graceful double-saddle butterflyfish, dazzling corals and an abundance of exotic marine life.

The M.S. Paul Gauguin was built specifically to navigate the islands of French Polynesia and to provide a more intimate South Pacific cruise experience.
Taha’a (Motu Mahana)

Idyllically set across a blue lagoon to the north of Huahine, Taha’a is dominated by the profile of Mount Ohiri, named for Hiro, the Polynesian god of sailors and thieves. Today, two exotic enterprises provide the islanders’ livelihoods—the production of the world’s most flavorful vanilla beans and the farming of lustrous black pearls. Spend the day on the private South Seas paradise Motu Mahana, where you can swim, snorkel or kayak, and enjoy a traditional Polynesian feast complemented by entertainment.

Bora Bora

Described as “the most beautiful island in the world” by author James A. Michener, Bora Bora is the proverbial vision of a South Seas paradise. Its distinctive black basalt peak is cloaked in a lush tropical forest and silhouetted against turquoise lagoon waters, where a coral reef and an outlying fringe of motu teem with multicolored fish. Bora Bora was settled by adventurous Polynesian mariners in the 10th century A.D. The islanders have preserved the ways of their forebears and still wear the traditional colorfully hand-dyed pareo or sarong. In Bora Bora’s forested interior, villagers cultivate breadfruit, coconuts and taro, and preserve the ancient ruins of stone marae, the legacy of ancestral Polynesian deities.

Moorea

Moorea’s distinctive heart-shaped island coastline formed by a long-extinct volcano creates its scenic splendor—palm fringed beaches, turquoise lagoons and dramatic volcanic peaks. A former sanctuary for vanquished Tahitian warriors, this island lured the American novelist Herman Melville in 1842, inspired Rodgers and Hammerstein to write Bali Ha’i and James Michener to pen his unforgettable Tales of the South Pacific. Impressive temples in Moorea evoke its Polynesian heritage while European churches underscore its role as the center for 19th-century missionary activity in the Society Islands.

Contemporary islanders continue the ways of their forefathers, farming pineapples and papayas and crafting fine works of art from seashells and indigenous wood. In Moorea’s village of Papetoai, a unique octagonal-shaped church is the oldest European structure in the South Seas still in use.
