Washington University Arts & Sciences

Arts & Sciences comprises the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences. Our programs and research centers help students, faculty, and staff to work together across traditional academic boundaries, creating new interdisciplinary studies and making breakthroughs in science and the arts.

Washington University Libraries

The University Libraries support every school, department, program, faculty member, and student at Washington University and act as the academic commons for each individual who passes through our three campuses. With more than four million books and holdings and 12 libraries, our libraries are the academic heart of the university.

Newman’s Own Foundation and A. E. Hotchner

In 1980, Paul Newman and A. E. Hotchner, AB ’40, JD ’40, filled empty wine bottles with homemade salad dressing to give as holiday gifts. After friends and neighbors asked for refills, the friends decided the recipe was good enough to begin selling commercially, and Newman’s Own was launched in 1982. First-year profits of the salad dressing exceeded $300,000, and Mr. Newman said, “Let’s give it all away to those who need it.”

Thus began a philanthropic movement, and the formation of Newman’s Own Foundation in 2005 ensured continuation of the mission. Since 1982, more than $540 million have been donated to thousands of nonprofit organizations, helping innumerable people around the world.

Newman’s Own Foundation and A. E. Hotchner Matching Challenge for Arts & Sciences and University Libraries

Your gift to the Annual Fund helps strengthen academic programs and library resources, enhancing collaboration and enriching our learning environment. We thank the Newman’s Own Foundation and A. E. Hotchner for creating this challenge and inspiring others to support Arts & Sciences and the Libraries. Together, we will help ensure exceptional opportunities for learning and discovery for many generations to come.

How the Challenge Works

The Newman’s Own Foundation and A. E. Hotchner Matching Challenge will provide the following matching grants for each gift to the Arts & Sciences Annual Fund, Arts & Sciences annual scholarships, or the Libraries Annual Fund, up to a total of $200,000.

Impact of Annual Fund Gifts

The Arts & Sciences Annual Fund provides resources for the most critical and immediate needs, including scholarships, research opportunities, facility and technology upgrades, internships, and career services. Help Arts & Sciences maintain its status as a leader in humanities, social science, and natural science education.

The Libraries Annual Fund provides essential resources for the collections, technologies, and services that benefit every member of the university community and the greater St. Louis region.
