“I invest in WashU Athletics because strong support enables the department to provide a life-changing experience to every Bear. I have seen firsthand how our annual support strengthens the athletics program and develops our future leaders. We can all do our part to ensure our student-athletes have opportunities to develop indispensable skills that benefit them at WashU and beyond.”

W Club Eliot Society Challenge for the Department of Athletics

In competition, the classroom, and the community, Washington University student-athletes strive to have an impact wherever they go. When you make a gift to the W Club—the Annual Fund for Athletics—you help develop the leaders of tomorrow.

Members of the W Club Executive Committee have established a generous $330,000 challenge to encourage alumni, parents, and friends to provide essential financial support for WashU Athletics and our student-athletes.

Like all Division III institutions, WashU relies on private funding to provide a transformative student-athlete experience. Now more than ever, your support makes the longstanding tradition of athletics excellence possible. Gifts to the W Club support:

- necessary and evolving alterations for COVID-19;
- sports medicine;
- injury prevention and performance enhancement;
- initiatives that promote student-athlete development; and
- technology and online streaming of competitions.

Sport-specific gifts to the W Club support the ongoing priorities set forth by each program’s head coach and the athletics director.
