On behalf of everyone in our community—faculty, staff, alumni, and students—I welcome you to Washington University in St. Louis and to the promise it holds for your sons and daughters. We thrive as a university because we are committed to the education and growth of all of our students, the next generation of outstanding global leaders in their respective fields and professions. That journey to adulthood that began in your homes continues here.

Thank you for everything you have done to bring these remarkable young women and men to our campus, and thank you for the support you offer to the university so it is able to continue its more than 160-year tradition of education, research, and service to society. Our distinguished faculty and staff is prepared to guide and enlighten our students and challenge them intellectually, and our staff and administration is fully committed to creating and maintaining an environment that will fully support our students with abundant, safe, and healthy opportunities for growth.

This is an exciting time for me as I prepare to conclude 24 years as chancellor at the end of this academic year. What my colleagues and I have accomplished during this time (as well as the work of my predecessor Dr. William H. Danforth) has set the stage for a new and exciting era in the history of Washington University, and I look forward to watching “Our Washington” continue to thrive and serve some of our nation’s and world’s very best and most creative students. What our students will learn and discover during their time here will prepare them for the rest of their lives.

We hope this Parent & Family Resource Calendar will keep you informed about important events and deadlines. It is also a helpful reference tool to find information on academics, campus life, finances, the campus community, and important contacts.

Thank you for everything you have done to prepare your daughters and sons for academic achievement at Washington University. The faculty and staff are your partners in helping to realize the full potential of your student.

We look forward to a productive and fulfilling year, and we welcome you to the Washington University family!
FROM RISA ZWERLING WRIGHTON

It is always great to welcome a new group of students to our Washington University community. As parents ourselves, the chancellor and I know that you are entrusting us to take excellent care of your students during their time here. Sending our own children off to college was an exciting time but also one of apprehension. We realize that for many of you, this is the first time your son or daughter will be living away from home. I am reminded of when my oldest daughter was a first-year student. One of her professors invited her to attend a holiday celebration at his home with his family, and it was a transforming moment that helped my daughter adjust to being away from home.

My daughter’s experience is what prompted me to start the Home Plate program 18 years ago. I personally match our students with warm-hearted local families so they can experience a home-like atmosphere away from home. The students enjoy a home-cooked meal while making meaningful connections with families in St. Louis. The families also benefit and love being involved in the life of the university. In many instances, they are missing their own college-age children. Many of our families and students develop warm relationships and remain connected throughout the undergraduate experience and beyond!

If your child seems a little homesick, please remind them about Home Plate. They will not only experience a touch of home, but they will also meet many interesting people in the process. We now have over 350 participating families, and I can frequently find a family that shares common interests with your student. I typically assign students in groups of three or four to make it more comfortable to meet their Home Plate family for the first time, and it works beautifully. To join Home Plate, students can visit homeplate.wustl.edu, send an email to homeplate@wustl.edu, or call me at (314) 276-3618. I will personally be in touch with each student.

Thank you once again for entrusting your children to Washington University. We will do all that we can to make these four years the best that they can be. I send you my best wishes for a wonderful year.

Risa Zwerling

FROM LORI WHITE VICE CHANCELLOR FOR STUDENTS

On behalf of all of my colleagues at Washington University, we welcome you to the 2018–2019 academic year. Whether you are a family that is new to our community or returning, we look forward to sharing the coming year with you.

For those of you new to the university, your student may be your first to attend college, or you may have experienced this undertaking before. Either way, your student's time at WashU is certainly something you have anticipated with many emotions. We hope you feel great pride in your student's accomplishments.

WashU has dedicated faculty, administrators, and staff who are committed to helping your student succeed. While WashU is a rigorous academic environment, it is also a supportive one. Your student will undoubtedly face many adjustments during their time in college, including how best to master time management, given the many opportunities available in and out of the classroom. The university has excellent resources and services to support your student and assist with whatever challenges may arise.

As a family member, encourage your student to utilize the resources available at Washington University. The Parent & Family Resource Calendar is a guide to these resources, whether academics, athletics, campus services, university life, or life in St. Louis. Please keep this calendar handy for reference throughout the year. You will receive a new calendar each year while your student attends WashU. Additionally, regular updates appear online on two websites we highly recommend: parents.wustl.edu and firstyear.wustl.edu.

Congratulations to you and your WashU student. We all extend our very best wishes!
WELCOME CLASS OF 2022
On the first day of class, the First Year Center distributes free snacks and school supplies to first-year students. Volunteers also snap photos at the underpass to share with families. We are looking forward to a great fall semester!

IN THE COMMUNITY

The WashU community plays an important role in enhancing the quality of life in our host city, St. Louis. For example, Dance Marathon raises money for the Children’s Miracle Network of Greater St. Louis. The fundraising year ends in November with a 12-hour dance party in which Chancellor Mark S. Wrighton and his wife, Risa, participate every year. This academic year will mark the end of Chancellor Wrighton’s 24-year tenure leading the university. The WashU community is grateful for all he and Risa have done to support the student experience and St. Louis community.

SURROUNDED BY BEAUTY

WashU’s campus features Collegiate Gothic architecture in its academic buildings—several of which are listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The campus is at once reminiscent of great European universities and a forward-looking center of academic excellence, cutting-edge research, and creativity.

MULTICULTURAL CELEBRATION

WashU is a global institution, and diversity is part of who we are. With 77 diversity-related student groups on campus, we celebrate the many cultural traditions of our students and strive to engage, learn, respect, and include in order to know each other by name and story. Lunar New Year is an annual featured event celebrating Asian and Asian-American culture.

RENEWED SPACES

The renovation of the John M. Olin Library has transformed it into a center for 21st-century scholarship. Enhancements include increased exhibition space and collection storage, more study and research areas, improved access, and better visibility of research services and special collections. It is now also home to one of the few surviving broadsides of the Declaration of Independence, which is on permanent display.

FESTIVE EVENTS
Every year students, alumni, and the St. Louis community look forward to the tradition of ThurtenE Carnival. Recognized as the oldest and largest student-run carnival in the United States, the three-day event attracts tens of thousands of people to the WashU campus for exciting rides, live performances, great food, and booths setup by student organizations.

THIS MONTH
Relay For Life • ThurtenE Carnival • Career Center: discuss internship opportunities

APRIL
As graduating students prepare for the next chapter in their lives, they gather for a final time, surrounded by family, friends, and colleagues to celebrate Commencement. The history and traditions of Commencement at WashU date from the first ceremony more than 150 years ago.

STUDY ABROAD
Summer is a great time to study abroad, and about 1 in 3 undergraduate students take advantage of this opportunity during their time at WashU. The goal of international study is to acquire the broad cultural knowledge, the languages, and the practical skills to participate fully in a global society.

THIS MONTH
Independence Day • Summer School • Summer Study Abroad
WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY VALUES
We, as members of the Washington University community, strive to engage, learn, respect, and include in order to know each other by name and story.

ENGAGE
• We are valued members of the Washington University community.
• We seek out different perspectives and experiences.
• We share our stories and listen to others.

LEARN
• We hold the courage to speak up, take risks, and make mistakes.
• We challenge ourselves to think critically and reflect upon our actions and words.
• We discover and explore identity.

RESPECT
• We act with kindness and empathy.
• We are responsible to our community and for our actions.
• We will forgive and be forgiven.

INCLUDE
• We welcome differences as well as commonalities.
• We learn from others.
• We value others.

PARENT & FAMILY RESOURCES
ALUMNI AND PARENTS ADMISSIONS PROGRAM (APAP)
APAP is a group of dedicated WashU alumni and parents who enhance the undergraduate admissions process through volunteer opportunities in their local community. Parent members serve as our best resources for the families of prospective and enrolling students because of their firsthand experience with the university. To join and learn more, visit apap.wustl.edu.

FIRST YEAR CENTER
The First Year Center supports new students and families through their transition into the Washington University community. Our goal is to assure each student builds and sustains his or her academic and personal goals. We bring together people, programs, and resources to provide an undergraduate experience of exceptional quality where we come to know each student by name and story, and where we help them prepare for lives of purpose and meaning.

The First Year Center sponsors Bear Beginnings: New Student Fall Orientation, Parent & Family Orientation, Pre-Orientation, programs to engage students with faculty outside the classroom, and Parent & Family Weekend. The First Year Center serves as the point of contact for all information you or your student may need to know about the transition to Washington University.

Please visit firstyear.wustl.edu, email firstyearcenter@wustl.edu, or call us at (314) 935-5040 for information about our programs or questions about campus resources.

PARENT PROGRAMS
Our parents and families serve as valued partners in the student experience at Washington University. Parent Programs Staff serve as your liaison with WashU by providing resources, facilitating engagement opportunities, and empowering families wishing to have an impact at the university.

Contact Parent Programs to learn more about events and programming in your area, assisting the Alumni & Parent Admissions Program, expanding Career Center services by hiring and mentoring WashU students, and including the university among your philanthropic priorities.

Discover more resources, ways to give, and sign up for publications at parentprograms.wustl.edu, or call (800) 247-8517 or email us at parentprograms@wustl.edu.

ACADEMIC RESOURCES CORNERSTONE
Cornerstone: The Learning Center helps your student improve learning skills, make a successful academic transition to college, and master material in courses. Group learning is emphasized in most programs, giving students the opportunity to learn from each other and understand the material more fully. Cornerstone offers many resources, including peer-led study groups, academic mentors, walk-in service at help desks, residential peer mentors, skills development consulting and coaching. For more information, (314) 935-5970; cornerstone.wustl.edu.

DISABILITY RESOURCES
Disability Resources (DR) coordinates accommodations for students with disabilities and suspected disabilities. DR is available to meet and assist students with questions they may have about requesting accommodations. Staff will meet with each student to discuss the nature of their request and the functional impact of their disability, as well as any accommodations that were used previously. Students are also encouraged to submit their request before classes begin so that an accommodation plan can be created in advance. For additional information, students are encouraged to visit the DR website. (314) 935-5970; disability.wustl.edu

LIBRARIES
Washington University Libraries, which include the John M. Olin Library and 11 school and departmental libraries, contain some of the finest research collections in the nation. Using the Libraries’ website, anyone can check hours of operation and special events, search the catalog, learn about Special Collections, and study digitized images of historic documents. Additionally, family members, alumni, and other users will find links to a number of librarian-recommended, freely available resources. library.wustl.edu

LIVING ON CAMPUS
BEAR BUCKS ACCOUNT
Bear Bucks is an optional, cashless system for purchasing select on- and off-campus services. These include residential laundry, select vending machines, printing, campus dining locations, and select off-campus restaurants. Bear Bucks may be used at several on-campus businesses such as the Campus Bookstore, Edison Theatre, Bear Necessities, and for a variety of student group events and activities. Bear Bucks is accessed through the WashU student ID card, the same card used for identification, building access, and the meal plan.

Students can initially purchase Bear Bucks on their housing application and manage them through WebSTAC. Funds remain available until the student leaves the university. “Guest Deposit” is a feature that gives parents, relatives, or friends the ability to purchase Bear Bucks for a student online using a debit or credit card. card.wustl.edu

KNOW “WHERE TO GO” IN AN EMERGENCY
Washington University is committed to protecting the safety and security of our...
SAFETY
To foster your student’s independence, the university works to provide a safe and secure environment in a number of ways. Resident advisors and other university staff encourage students to be conscious of their personal security. Through publications, special workshops, and residential floor meetings, students become knowledgeable about a variety of issues, such as personal safety, alcohol abuse, and sexual harassment, including sexual violence.

The Washington University Police Department (WUPD) provides on-campus law enforcement and security services. University police officers are deputized by the St. Louis County Police Department. These officers patrol the Danforth Campus and the residence house areas 24 hours a day, responding to all emergencies and requests for assistance. As an additional measure of safety, Washington University has a system of more than 300 blue-light emergency telephones. Phones located on campus call directly to the Washington University Police; phones off campus call the local police department through a 911 operator. When an emergency phone is activated, an officer is immediately dispatched to the location.

To address safety issues proactively, WUPD provides the following services: free safety whistles; Operation ID, an identification program to mark and catalog personal property; free bicycle registration and reduced-rate sales of high-security bicycle locks; “CLUB” steering wheel locks; RAD: Rape Aggression Defense, a self-defense course offered to both men and women; Bear Patrol, a student-led service that provides escorts and additional security on campus; and a computer antitheft program called “STOP tag.”

RELATIONSHIP AND SEXUAL VIOLENCE PREVENTION (RSVP) CENTER
The RSVP Center is a community health resource committed to prevention education, as well as support, response, and empowerment for victims of relationship and sexual violence. Services are available 24/7 for individuals in immediate need of assistance. (314) 935-8761; rsvpcenter.wustl.edu

STUDENT CONDUCT AND COMMUNITY STANDARDS
For more information on policies and student conduct, please contact the Office of Student Conduct and Community Standards at (314) 935-4329 or visit studentconduct.wustl.edu. For a list of university policies, please see wustl.edu/policies.

SPRING HOUSING SELECTION FOR RETURNING STUDENTS
The spring housing selection process for returning students can be a stressful time. The key to a successful housing selection process is having realistic expectations. Determining roommate(s) and thinking about where you want to live are two important decisions your student must make. You can assist with this process by encouraging your student to be well-informed. Suggest they attend a housing information forum and encourage them to read the information located at reslife.wustl.edu as well as the emails sent to their WashU email account.

Current residents have a variety of Residential Life-managed housing options. Most sophomores will choose to return to one of the residential colleges located on the South 40 or choose to participate in the small group housing (BLOC) program located at the Village, while our junior and senior students will look at the more independent living styles offered in our apartment buildings. Each year, approximately 33 percent of students who submit their applications live off campus in housing that is managed by the Residential Life Office. These apartments function similar to the residence halls on campus. Upperclassmen can experience the autonomy that comes with the apartment life while still maintaining the security with being connected to the university staff, programming, and resources. It is important for students and parents to understand that Residential Life can house all students who continue with their housing from year to year, but not all of our housing is on campus.

In addition to the housing provided by Residential Life and the Greek Houses, the university owns additional properties. Quadrangle Housing Company manages university properties that are leased to Washington University students and staff while Parallel Properties manages properties that are available in the open market. Students may also utilize The Apartment Referral Service (ARS), which can assist them in locating non-WashU properties. (314) 935-5050; reslife.wustl.edu

STUDENT HEALTH
The Habif Health and Wellness Center—Student Health Services provides the student community of Washington University with premiere, student-centered health and health promotion services. We offer a range of services from medical checkups and mental health services to wellness support and health education.

It is important for all students to have a health insurance plan that provides comprehensive medical and mental health coverage while at the university. Students are required to carry a health plan that meets a set of minimum criteria. Students who do not meet waiver requirements on their current insurance plan or do not have insurance available to them may purchase the student health insurance plan. Visit our website for detailed information on the health plan available for students and their dependents, as well as criteria to waive out of the student health plan by the deadline of September 5, 2018.

STUDENT TECHNOLOGY SERVICES
Student Technology Services (STS), a division of WashU IT, provides access to and support of student technology services, including wired and wireless networking, cable TV, residential computer labs, student technology programming, tech-related employment opportunities, and a student-staffed service desk. (314) 935-7100; sts.wustl.edu

CAMPUS LIFE
Campus Life empowers students to discover and define themselves and their communities through advising, programs, and resources. Students can do this by getting involved in some of our over 350 student groups that range from media, academic, dance/performing arts, identity based, fraternities or sororities, and more. They can also participate in a leadership development program like LeaderShape Institute or engage in a signature program at the DUC.

Campus Life staff is dedicated to making sure students are finding their home at WashU and growing in the process. Encourage your student to meet with a staff member to learn more about Campus Life or search our offerings at: campuslife.wustl.edu

FINANCES

STUDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES

Student Financial Services provides financial assistance and counseling to Washington University students. Students may apply for financial assistance, ask questions about or pay their student accounting invoice, receive assistance with budget planning, search for outside scholarships, and seek part-time employment. A counselor is available for walk-in appointments Monday–Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. in Room 75 of North Brookings Hall. (314) 935-5900 or 1 (888) 547-6670; sfs.wustl.edu

STUDENT ACCOUNTING

The Office of Student Accounting is responsible for the distribution of accurate information relating to a student’s financial account at Washington University. The primary function of the office is to issue e-statements, receive payments, disburse refunds, produce 1098-T forms, and provide the means to help understand various aspects of a student account. Students may access their billing information on WebSTAC at acadinfo.wustl.edu, under Billing Records, Pay/View My Bill. They may also invite their guardians to view billing statements under My Profile, Invite Other Payer. (800) 758-0050 or (314) 935-5274; financialservices.wustl.edu
